INFORMATION COMMISSIONER APPOINTED

HE the Governor Mr Stuart Jack CVO hereby announces the appointment of Mrs Jennifer P. Dilbert, MBE, JP, as Information Commissioner to the Cayman Islands.

In accordance with the Freedom of Information (Information Commissioner) Regulations, 2008, the Information Commissioner is appointed following a recommendation from a five-person selection panel, and after consultation with Cabinet.

Mrs Dilbert, currently the Cayman Islands Representative in the United Kingdom, is expected to take up her new position at the beginning of next year.

The Information Commissioner is appointed according to the Freedom of Information Law, 2007, and "shall hold office for a term of five years or such shorter term as may be determined at the time of appointment, and may be reappointed to serve a maximum of two terms" the law states.

The Information Commissioner's duties are to educate the public on their rights under the FOI Law; to ensure access to information as stated under the law and most importantly, to hear appeals on denied requests.

In reviewing such appeals, the Commissioner's Office will be empowered to determine whether public authorities have applied the FOI Law appropriately when refusing to grant access to certain information. The office will also examine whether failure to grant timely access or failure to carry out any obligations as stated under the law have occurred.

Other powers include ordering public entities to publish certain information, to change their record keeping practices, and/or to provide staff with the necessary training to fulfil their duty under the law.

Biography – Mrs Jennifer P. Dilbert, MBE, JP

Since August 2000, Mrs Jennifer Dilbert has served as the Cayman Islands Government Representative in the United Kingdom.

Between 1996 and 1999 and prior to her UK appointment, she was Executive Director of Deutsche Bank (Cayman) Ltd. where she headed a team of more than 40 staff who offered a comprehensive range of financial services including mutual fund administration, banking, corporate financing and fiduciary services.

Mrs Dilbert had earlier served with the Cayman Islands Government for 17 years, 15 of which were spent in supervision of the financial services industry.

As Inspector of Financial Services for the Government, she headed the Financial Services Supervision Department, the precursor to the Cayman Islands Monetary Authority (for which she acted as Managing Director in 2002). This department was responsible for the regulation of Cayman's financial industry.

In her role as inspector, she trained, lectured, and worked closely within the international supervisory community, including the Basle Committee, the Bank of England and the US Federal Reserve Board. She was also involved in developing and drafting Cayman's legislation to regulate and enable the financial industry.

A 1981 University of Western Ontario (Canada) economics graduate, Mrs Dilbert had previously managed the Cayman Islands Currency Board and the 1979 population census.

She has served on various boards and committees in the Cayman Islands Government, the financial industry, and the wider Cayman community. These include the Monetary Authority; the Stock Exchange; the Bankers Association; the Duke of Edinburgh's Award Committee; the Cayman Prep School PTA, and the John Gray United Church. She currently sits on the Boards of the Associations for Overseas Countries and Territories of the UK and the EU.

Mrs. Dilbert was appointed a Member of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) in the Queen's Birthday Honours List in 2005, and a Justice of the Peace in and for the Cayman Islands the following year.

Statement from Mrs Jennifer P. Dilbert on her background and suitability for the position of Information Commissioner

I believe my biography and career history demonstrate that I have a suitable background to perform the duties of Information Commissioner as set out in the Freedom of Information Law, 2007 and the Freedom of Information (Information Commissioner) Regulations, 2008.

I have been a civil servant for over 25 years, most of my service having been in senior posts, and so have a good working knowledge of issues of public governance in the Cayman Islands. In particular, I have had considerable experience with developing and managing budgets, as well as structuring offices including hiring of staff at all levels. I have experience with the development, drafting and interpretation of Cayman

Islands laws, especially those governing the financial industry, and have had to make a number of court appearances with regard to the application of these laws.

Throughout my career, I have successfully worked with elected governments representing various groups and parties. I have never been a member of a political party or otherwise involved in partisan politics. I believe I would not only bring the required level of impartiality to this position, but I would continue to enjoy the confidence of political actors on all sides as well as the public at large.

As is well known, participation in the international financial industry requires adherence to strict statutory and legal requirements. As the senior financial services regulator for the Cayman Islands, I was required to operate within such parameters, both with respect to developing best practices and policies, and to advise the private sector in this regard.

My current responsibilities representing the Cayman Islands in the United Kingdom and the European Union also call for me to advise the Cayman Government on international legislation and initiatives covering a wide spectrum.

I have had the honour of representing the Cayman Islands in the UK for the past eight years, and of working as a civil servant for over 25 years. I would be privileged to continue to serve my country as Information Commissioner.

Dated this 16th day of September 2008.
